

“What if everything is an illusion and nothing exists? In that case, I definitely overpaid for my carpet.”

Woody Allen

Grey Matters

Volume 1

December 22 – 23, 2003

Number 17

A weekend without a blizzard seemed almost peculiar. It is funny how fast we get used to the winter. As is to be predicted this time of year, there has been the normal winter increase in kids and staff being out sick. I always wonder is it really caused by the winter or is it a result of our bodies somehow knowing a break is near when we can afford to rest and recuperate. Perhaps someone has done a study.

Room 311 should be available for classroom use soon after we return in January. Many people may not be aware that there are access tunnels under sections of the building which were used to run utility lines during construction. Apparently, there was a breach between this tunnel and room 311 which allowed mold spores to enter the room. Once this opening was sealed, the air quality quickly returned to normal and was designated healthy. The demolished areas of the room have been rebuilt and now all we are waiting for is the installation of the new carpet. Hopefully, I will never have to write about mold again!!!!

As 2003 comes to a close, I would like to wish everyone a happy and healthy holiday season. Use this time to rest, relax, and to enjoy the love and support of your family. I look forward to working together with the students, staff, and parents of RJG in the coming year. Together, we can embrace the excitement and the challenges that may come our way. See you next year!