Congratulations to the cast, crew, directors, and produces of RGJ's presentation of Seussical. The Hardimon clan went to opening night Friday evening and was blown away. My daughters were talking about Horton and the Whos all weekend! From the singing to the acting, the costumes and the set, this year's musical exemplifies the incredible level of excellence for which AB is renowned. The show continues through next weekend. You really don't want to miss it!

I want to remind everyone that this Monday evening, March 7th, and Thursday evening, March 10, I will be holding a series of budgetary impact meetings in the R.J. Grey Library beginning at 7P.M. The purpose of these meeting is to clarify the impact of a failed override vote on educational programming at RJG for the 2005-06 school year.

To further update the families of RJG, Assistant Principals Dr. Carolyn Imperato and Mr. Larry Fliegelman will be presenting at Tuesday's PTSO Forum at the Acton Memorial Library. They will be talking about the role of Assistant Principal and their impact on the safety, support, and security of daily life in our school community.

This Wednesday is RJG's fourth annual Project Wellness Day. Project Wellness is a collaborative effort within the Acton and Boxborough communities to provide seventh grade students and an adult family member with an opportunity to communicate and learn about the challenging issues and concerns of adolescence. Parents and students will spend an entire day attending workshops chosen from a list of over 30 choices. Thanks to the hard work of a dedicated group of parents and staff, this year's Project Wellness Day should be the best ever!

It is that time of year again where our children come home from school with less coats and hats than they left with in the morning. Our lost and found bin is overflowing and it is time to clean up. Parents and guardians, please remind your children to claim their items in lost and found near the cafeteria. Any item left will be donated to charity on Tuesday, March 15.
